A fan in the audience was filming, you can catch the U-tube video here:

The reaction of the race fans is interesting. First, the audience is stunned. You can see the man in a red shirt protecting someone with his body. Others were understandably stunned, frozen in place.

A car tire flew into the grandstand, injuring several. You can see several call for
